

Astronomy In the City

Winter 2007

December 7, 2007 - 6:30 to 8:30 PM

Join BOSTON AREA YOUTH
and experience astronomy in a way never seen before

Kids Capture Their Universe:

We are middle school apprentices from the Wilson School in Dorchester. We will take you through an astronomy-photography exhibit of pictures we captured ourselves using online robotic telescopes. Come see our artistic interpretation in poems and sculptures!

Youth Astronomy Apprenticeship:

We are high school apprentices from the Boston area. Through hands-on activities, demonstrations and a theatrical performance we created ourselves, we will give you a first-hand experience with black holes, telescopes and the life and death of stars.

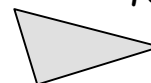

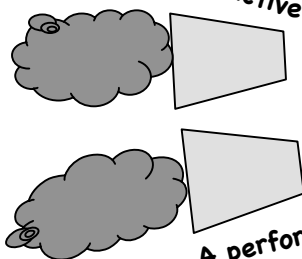

Chandra Astrophysics Institute:

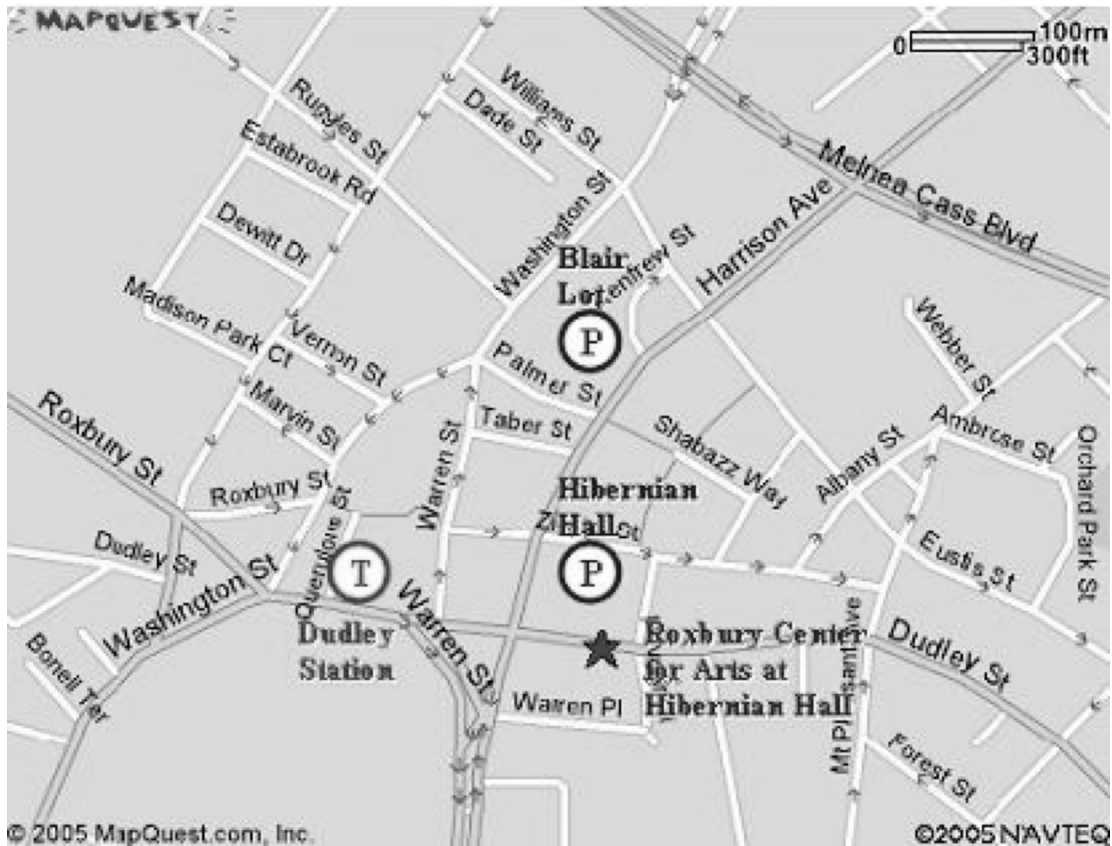

We are high school students from the Boston area. Using images from The Chandra X-ray Observatory spacecraft, we will share our self-designed investigations of the hottest, most energetic parts of the universe.
